HONORABLE R. C. RUSSELL ANNOUNCES

For Highway Commissioner Of Southern District—Has Had Years of Official Experience And Training.

Hon. R. C. Russell, of Simpson County, authorizes us to announce his candidacy for Highway Commissioner of Southern District of Mississippi, subject to the action of the voters in the primary election. It has not been our privilege to enjoy a personal acquaintance with Mr. Russell, but from many reliable sources, we have learned of the excellent reputation enjoyed by him in his home county and throughout the district, as a citizen, lawyer and public official of many years service in different capacities.

Mr. Russell is making an active, aggressive campaign of the district

HON. R. C. RUSSELL on a constructive platform, promising the people, among other things, that if elected he will give them an honest administration of the Highway Department; that he will safeguard the road funds against waste in any form; that he will insist upon a dollar's worth of real value for every dollar expended; that he will not only continue the construction of trunk line highways through the State, in accordance with the program planned by the legislature, with all possible speed; but he will see to it that farm-to-market roads are constructed as rapidly as possible throughout the district, so as to enable the farmers and other producers to enjoy the fullest advantages of market facilities.

And, finally, Mr. Russell pledges himself to the fullest observance of the law which requires the highway department to employ Mississippi labor in the construction of Mississippi roads.

As the best evidence of the esteem in which Mr. Russell is held by those who know him best, we are authorized to reproduce below an endorsement given him by the officials of his home town, and published in the Simpson County News: To the Voters of the Southern Highway District:

We, the undersigned officers of the Town of Magee, the home of R. C. Russell, a candidate for Highway Commissioner, offer the following as our testimony and endorsement of Mr. Russell for this highly important office:

First, his honesty and integrity are so well-known and established in this state that any comment or endorsement of these traits of character would be a waste of time; however, if he should be assailed in the heat of his campaign we will invite the public to investigate the character of the assailant. Mr. Russell has always stood for religious, moral and civic virtues of his town, county, state and nation that have had for their purpose the betterment of the human family.

TWICE AS DANGEROUS AT NIGHT.

INVESTIGATION of traffic accidents leads to the conclusion that night travel is at least twice as dangerous as daytime travel.

It seems certain that one of the contributing factors to this increased danger involves the lighting facilities of modern automobiles. Sometimes the accident is caused by inadequate light on the highway, and, at other times, by excessive glare which blinds the drivers of approaching vehicles. In either case, accidents are more likely to occur.

The automobile manufacturers have made great contributions to transportation in the development of fine motor cars. It is about time for them to give more serious consideration to the development of an adequate and safe method of providing light for automobile drivers.

Automobile drivers in Hancock county, who find themselves on the highways after dark, can contribute to the safety of pedestrians and riders by observing the ordinary rules of good manners. For example, one driving an automobile with its beaming headlights can show a regard for others by promptly dimming them upon meeting another vehicle. The failure to do this simple thing often causes a wreck, involving the careless driver, and, at times, prevents another driver from seeing a pedestrian or obstacle in his path.

THE AUTOGIRO IS USEFUL.

AN autogiro is being used to transport mail between Camden, N. J., airport and the Philadelphia postoffice. It makes the six-mile trip in six and a half minutes, or about one-sixth the time required by a truck.

The use and development of rotary-winged flying machines is engaging the attention of aviation experts all over the world. Because it can hover in the air and land and take off from very restricted areas, the autogiro has much promise in commercial and private flying service. In Philadelphia, for example, the autogiro, coming from the airport, lands on the roof of the postoffice building.

The autogiro and the helicopter, which has been flown successfully inside an auditorium, indicate that in the not distant future vertical take-offs from roof-tops and lawns will be possible. When that day arrives, the speed and convenience of flying will be greatly increased.

GIVING THE NEWS TO THE WORLD.

THE use of short-wave radio stations to transmit propaganda into foreign countries has been utilized for years by the subsidized broadcasting stations of Germany, Italy and Japan. Recently, other countries have resorted to the ether in order to get the news of special events into various countries.

In a few days, this country will have its first 100-kilowatt short-wave station which will broadcast news to Central and South American countries.

Officials responsible for the broadcasts will follow the American plan of giving the news "even if it hurts." Foreign language expert announcers, born in South America, will relate the news in Spanish and Portuguese so that listeners in this hemisphere can readily understand the broadcasts.

Incidentally, American short-wave stations report formidable "defense weapons" are used by European Governments to prevent listeners from receiving the American broadcasts. During the Russian spy case, a mysterious roar of interference drowned out the announcer's voice whenever a bulletin concerned the trial. A similar roar was reported by listeners abroad during announcements concerning German news.

A STORE ON A 42-HOUR WEEK.

EVEN today, the forty-hour week for labor is regarded as something dangerous by those who are accustomed to think that a work-week should be sixty hours or more.

This thought comes to our mind as we read the advertisement of one of the largest department stores in a metropolitan city, which announces that during the summer months, it will close at five p. m. on Friday and open again on Monday at twelve noon. The summer schedule for the store reveals that it will be open only forty-two and one-half hours per week.

While it may not be practical for the stores and business places of Bay St. Louis to follow the example of the New York store, it should be possible, with some cooperation among the businessmen and buyers of this area, to shorten the hours of business during the hot weeks of the summer. Certainly, the volume of business done does not warrant the long hours that custom has forced upon business houses. There is no insurmountable obstacle to the adoption of a summer schedule for business houses which will go further than the afternoon-off that has come into vogue in recent years.

With a little cooperation, this can be accomplished without inconvenience to buyers or sellers and to the great joy and comfort of those who are tied down by the present rigors of an out-moded commercial code.

During the year ending March 31, 1939, Mississippi produced a total of 16,652 fifty-gallon barrels of turpentine and 58,639 five-hundred-pound barrels of rosin, according to Fred B. Merrill, State Forester. Mississippi has around 40 Naval Stores.

ADVERTISING PAYS.

ADVERTISING to pay must be in the right medium, in the right manner, and at the right time.

Just because someone is willing to spend a little money with a newspaper does not mean that he is an adviser. It may show that he is a spendthrift.

The Sea Coast Echo believes firmly in the power of advertising in its columns. We feel certain that it will help the business upon which it is spent. However, no advertiser should get the foolish idea that all he has to do is to put any old thing in a printed appeal and the magic of advertising will bring home the bacon.

Successful advertisers are men and women who have studied the art, who understand some of the psychology which sways buyers and know enough about the things advertised to be able to buy and sell them correctly.

For Bay St. Louis merchants, advertising is not the most important part of their business. It is, however, an important factor in merchandising, which has demonstrated its power to produce sales results. It should be utilized for that purpose, and no other.

We have no objection to any person spending money as he or she deems proper, but it sometimes gives us a pain in the neck to see what some merchants buy and charge to "advertising."

MORE AND BETTER ROADS.

ACQUISITIONS of rights of way for the Natchez Trace is progressing and the Highway Department reports that nearly one hundred miles of rights of way will be turned over to the federal government during 1939. This is in addition to nearly thirty miles previously obtained. Opening an entirely new area from the northeast to the southwest through Mississippi support of nearly every civic organization in the state. When completed it will add materially to the number of tourists and visitors in the state, and enable our own citizens to utilize the parkways and recreational areas planned as a part of the project.

Mississippi soils, her climate, her labor conditions, her cheap available power, her forests and lands open for reforestation, and her resources generally, unfolds the rarest opportunities for our people to prosper and be independent. We need more industries to manufacture Mississippi products into articles that may be sold in Mississippi, as well as in other states and we need improved marketing conditions, the creation of new markets for our products.

SIX EX-GOVERNORS LIVING.

IT IS not often that a state having a four-year term of governor has as many ex-governors living as does Mississippi. In addition to the present chief executive, Governor White, Mississippi has six ex-governors, as follows: Governor A. H. Longino, of Jackson; Governor Earl Brewer, of Jackson; Governor Theo. G. Bilbo, Poplarville, now junior senator in Congress; Governor Mike Conner, of Jackson; Governor Lee Russell, of Jackson; and Governor Dennis Murphree, of Jackson. Ex-Governor Longino was chief executive of Mississippi from 1900 to 1904.

INQUIRE ABOUT STATE.

LETTERS are received daily in the Secretary of State's department from practically every state in the Nation, requesting pictorial data on Mississippi, information concerning our laws, our resources, the history of Mississippi, copies of the Mississippi Constitution, the Mississippi Sales Tax, Homestead Exemptions, wine and beer law, copy of state seal, the state flower, the state motto, and road maps of Mississippi. In fact people from out of Mississippi appear to be deeply interested in our state at the present time.

A SKELETON EXCITES SCIENTISTS.

Archaeologists and anthropologists all over the world are excited over the discovery of the skeleton of a child in a cave on the face of a high cliff in middle Asia.

Ordinary individuals, not knowing where the human race is going much less where it came from, are somewhat immune to the excitement, but experts say that it proves that the Neanderthal man was widely dispersed.

Never before had such a skeleton been found between Europe and China. The Neanderthal man, who existed about 100,000 years, ago, was the huntsman of the old Stone Age, bringing down mammoths and other game and using crude stone instruments.

LAZY VOLCANOES CAUSE HEAT.

THE volcanoes of the world have been peaceful for the past few years, and as a result, says Dr. Otto Strude, the weather has been warmer.

The astronomer says that volcanic eruptions throw great quantities of dust particles into the air which partially block the rays of the sun and reduce their intensity for a long time. Without volcanic activity, the dust is not in the atmosphere and the sun shines down with great power.

The doctor's theory is very interesting but, for one, we prefer the heat. We are willing to do without volcanic activity.

There are 65,000 bound volumes, approximately, in the state library, under the direction of Mrs. Rena Raley, state librarian, and Miss Mamie Owens, assistant librarian. This does not include innumerable unbound books, pamphlets, papers, etc. The patrons of the library are judges of the Supreme Court, legislators, State officials, lawyers, Chambers of Commerce, college and high school students, and all others who do research work of any kind.

The collections for the State Tax Commission are better than a half million dollars ahead of the same time last year, according to Hon. Alf Stone, chairman, in a statistical release a few days ago, in round numbers the increase being $600,000.

With The Press

ANOTHER DREAM COMES TRUE.

(West Point Times-Leader.)

FOR many years the business of using the sun's rays for practical heating purposes has been a dream. It has been done in laboratory from and expositions have often showed experimental plants that worked.

Now it has come to practical reality. In Miami, Fla., a U. S. H. A. housing project for 345 families, the "Edison Courts," will be equipped with solar hot-water heaters. If not the first of their kind, they are probably the first installed on any such large scale.

On each roof will be a shallow, glass-covered box, through which run copper pipes. The rays will heat the water to 80 degrees, whereupon it will be drawn off and held in an insulated tank, where in it will lose less than 7 degrees in 24 hours. The cost of installation is greater than that of ordinary heaters, but the cost of running them should be nil. Plans are under way to install them in other cities, and even in the north, engineers say, they are practicable.

Thus the sun, always a good friend to man, is bent to yet another task in his service.

LIFE—LONGER AND BETTER.

(Vicksburg Evening-Post)

THE average wage-earner now has reason to believe he will, with luck, live to be nearly 62. That estimate of life expectancy at birth, established for 1938 by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., is the highest ever recorded. It applies to the country's policyholders, but the general expectancy is if anything a little higher.

Back in 1911, when such figures first began to be kept, the average life expectancy on this scale was only 46.63 years. So the improvement in the average man's chance for long life is certainly marked.

What we need now is not so much to make life longer as to make it better. And just as the improved long-life expectancy has been achieved by steady work on matters of public health, improved diet and living conditions, so the job of making life better as well as longer will be a long one. Its successes are made up of the sum total of many little social advances. Shorter working hours here, better recreation facilities there, a war prevented, a disease conquered—little by little we inch forward toward a better as well as a longer life.

TAX-FREE CANTON.

THE Mississippi Advertising Commission publishes a series of illustrated articles entitled, "It's A Fact." They contain little-known and interesting facts about Mississippi.

A recent release contained this: "Canton, Miss., with a population of 4,725, operates its government without taxation." That is a mighty strong talking point for any town nowadays.

Charlie Harris, publisher-mayor, is now serving his fourth or fifth consecutive term. Congratulations to Charlie and to the people of Canton. Evidently he is doing a bang-up job.

If he doesn't look out, all of Mississippi will be moving there to one of the few tax-free communities in the whole wide world.

"To Make The Best Better" Slogan For 4-H Club Congress.

Holding chief interest of Mississippi farm folk this week will be the fourteenth annual State 4-H Club Congress at Mississippi State College. A thousand picked 4-H boys and girls representing every county in the state are planning to attend this important event. Striving "to make the best better," these alert, ambitious, and industrious farm youngsters have already set a fast pace in improved farming and homemaking.

With fine production records to their credit, these boys and girls as they take over the management of their own farms and homes in the years ahead will not be content with average farming. They will take the lead in conserving and improving the fertility of the soil, they will strive to develop a great livestock industry, they will make Mississippi agriculture more self-sustaining, more productive. They will take a new interest in improving the rural home and in rebuilding the rural community.

It is a fine opportunity that these farm youngsters have to spend a week at the state's greatest agricultural educational institution, seeing, studying, demonstrating, and learning the best in the field of farming and homemaking. They will return home with new ideas, additional information, and fresh enthusiasm for their work.

At the same time, around 1,000 negro 4-H club boys and girls will attend the State club congress at

"Man of the Hour" is being modernized and will serve as a story in which to star Edward G. Robinson.

"Mr. Tutt," of the Arthur Train story series is scheduled to appear on the screen soon. Walter Huston will probably play the title role.

It is rumored that Ronald Colman was the director's choice for the lead in "Rebecca," but in order to get Vivian Leigh for the feminine lead, the part of Max was given to Lawrence Olivier.

"Lady Jane," Shirley Temple's picture was held up temporarily while the studio searched for a blue heron which was very necessary for the picture. Gale Sondergaard, by the way, is the villainess of the piece.

Miriam Hopkins was so anxious to appear in "The Old Maid," that she terminated her contract with MGM at a loss of $150,000. She then signed up with Warners to make two pictures at $50,000 each.

MR. ROONEY GETS HIS FIRST TASTE OF CAFE SOCIETY

Night Club Set Most Elaborate Yet Seen in Hardy Family Series.

Young Mickey Rooney had the time of his life in his first night club scene for a movie. He promptly fell for Virginia Grey, who was one of the glorified beauties in "The Great Ziegfeld," although he was drawn to her kid sister, Loraine, who appeared in the chorus.

In "The Hardys Ride High," showing at the A. & G. Theater, sixth picture of the series, Mickey moves from the mythical town of Carvel to Detroit, where the family inherits a fortune. For the first time the son of Judge Hardy sees the night life of a big city and is frightened by it, although he tries to conceal the fear.

The set, a departure from the usual Hardy scenes of domesticity, is the most elaborate and certainly the most spectacular ever built for one of the pictures. Two hundred dress extras provide sophisticated atmosphere for the night club. A thirty-piece orchestra plays current hits and Mickey wears formal clothes and a silk hat for the first time.

A chorus of twelve girls of which Virginia Grey is the leader, includes Marilyn Kinsley and Lee Bailey, both of whom studied dancing as stand-ins for Eleanor Powell.

In "The Hardys Ride High" the family inherits a temporary fortune from the estate of an ancestor of Judge Hardy. They take over the mansion in Detroit and live in luxury briefly but with enthusiasm. Mickey promptly essays to become a young-man-about-town, visits a night club and meets a glamour girl in the chorus. When he calls on her, however, he loses his nerve and runs out.

Personal and General

REGATTA AT PASS
CHRISTIAN AFFAIR OF JOY AND BEAUTY.

ONE touch of nature made the whole world kin; laugh and the world laughs with you, may well be said of Ragatta at Pass Christian.

Visitors one and all salutations—to those who came from far and near, we extended the hand of friendship—palm upward.

The first day all the honors went to the Skipperettes, those charming and gracious ladies who were valuable additions and added so very much to the plus side of our Ragatta. Around noon a delicious lunch was served aboard the Freda Mae and those who enjoyed the hospitality of the Skipperettes, looked very cool and most comfortable.

The first visitor to arrive was our faithful old friend the Arthur Herbert. Spick and span—gleaming in the sun. With Captain Pete Pader, Herbert and Vernon Lipre and Jean Roberts, always willing and most anxious for the comfort and pleasure of those on board.

The Arthur Herbert like a homing pigeon, came home to receive a warm welcome. The day before Ragatta the old happy crowd, packed their troubles in their old kit bag, the Arthur Herbert pointed her nose for dear old Goose Point and those aboard settled down for comfort and pleasure. How happy we all were when we reached Cat Island. Just like coming home—back to the peaceful old life and the dear familiar things again.

Those who have seen sunset on the water well know that words are inadequate to describe the scenes. When the red in the west grows gray the very atmosphere seems to breathe a sweet evening repose and a grey twilight hush. To those who find sleep difficult go aboard a boat—let it rock you gently—look up at the lovely stars, the forget-me-not of the Angels. Let the sea gulls bid you good-night in their own sweet way and listen to the whisper of the pines and the murmur of the sea. When night drops down her sable curtains and pins it with a star a deep refreshing peaceful sleep will come—the sleep that knits up the raveled sleeve of care.

A thing of beauty is a joy forever, sunrise on the water is such a beautiful picture to hang on memory's wall. Just looking at a beautiful sunrise makes one feel that every day is a fresh beginning—every morn is the world made new. Friday and Saturday will long live in the hearts and minds of those happy people who were part of the Pass Ragatta.

The judges were most considerate.

of visitors, one and all were made to feel at home. Strangers of the morning became warm friends by evening. For two days friends and others paid and returned calls—speed boats were kept busy taking people from boat to boat.

Since you came so far to see us, come again—glad to have you—sorry to have you go. All praise and appreciation should be expressed to the gentlemen of every committee, their work was well done.

May all those who derived so much pleasure and enjoyment from our three-day Ragatta, be with us again next year. Open the book of memory at a place where the leaves most easily fall apart—come back and bring other friends with you.

DREAMY BAYOU

It's dreamy and quiet on the Bayou tonight

And the stars keep watch in the sky
Let's go for a ride
We'll drift with the tide
And sing to the moon on high.

Its a leaky old boat
Still I know it, will float

With a cargo as precious as you.
As we drift along
We'll sing a love song
Down on the Dreamy Bayou.

See the moss in the trees
How it sways in the breeze
There is romance here for two
We'll sing a sweet song
As we drift along
Down on the Dreamy Bayou.
